Program Newspapers in the Classroom

Created by Grupo Sinos, the Newspaper in the Classroom program aims to encourage the newspaper's use as a complementary resource to teaching practices aimed at promoting reading and citizenship. The bridge between the two universes - newspaper and school - wants to encourage the development of projects aimed at improving read rates, expand vocabulary, verbal / written expression and the criticality of the students, adding value to the learning process and increasing the understanding of the world.

How it works:

Each week, the Journal program in the classroom enables students and members of the initiative teachers a copy of the Jornal NH, Jornal VS, Diário de Canoas, Jornal de Gramado, Diário de Cachoeirinha e Correio de

Gravataí in schools, according to coverage area of each media outlet. Inserted in the educational context, the journal is another resource to encourage reading, which has allowed teachers make space for deeper discussions of everyday life, making the school an environment where students do not accumulate information, but learn to interact with it

Alma Racional presented their show in the school for the students. The band is formed by four members, Gui Rodrigues (vocalist), Lucas Moser (guitarist), Bruno Flores (counter bassist) and Felipe Fraga (drumer). They presented covers of Brazilian and international artists, and made the students sing along. Days before this presentation, on April, the musicians they were there opening the Onze:20 show, a national band that do a lot of success inside the country. Their coming to the school was only possible due the recent partnership of the school with the music school "Guitar School". Guitar School offers instruments classes like guitar, electric guitar, drums, piano, among others. Some of the teachers are integrants of "Alma Racional" band. The classes are happening in rooms provided by the school, giving the all students the oportunity to learn. Other artists have already been at Concordia, like Hique Cunha,

Alma Racional shook the break

The band who had opened the Onze:20 show it was an attraction on Concordia

Vinny Lacerda and Melody. Melody is a group of six members that stood out when they participated in a Brazilian reality show, the Superstar.
